

Ostendorf collection O-92

"THE MOST SATISFACTORY LIKENESS." Photograph by Anthony Berger, Brady Gallery, Washington, D. C., Tuesday, February 9, 1864. Thirty years after his father's death, Robert T. Lincoln wrote to Meserve: "I have always thought the Brady photograph of my father, of which I attach a copy, to be the most satisfactory likeness of him."